

This MONTH's Question:

Which activities/events/networking sessions do you wish that the Association offered to accommodate agents? Are there any current offerings that you find to be especially beneficial to agents?

I believe the association should offer more computer technical support. We are being asked go high tech and many of the agents do not know how to work on Facebook, etc. It would help greatly to have a hands-on class. It could also be worked into our CE for the year.

I think our association offers good classes. Great office staff to answer questions and offer help.

As far as the activities and networking things I don't really bother with any of that too much.

I don't really have the time or the inclination/interest to do any of the activities and networking.

General consensus feels that the Association provides more than adequate support via programs, classes and other support in supporting Realtors during this difficult market.
